Description

A very beautiful and original architectural and interior design rendering, created on tracing paper, depicting a spacious interior designed in a style characteristic of the 1960s and 1970s.

The composition depicts a circulation or reception area with a wooden ceiling, recessed lighting, carpet, furniture, display cases, and decorative elements. Several figures are incorporated into the drawing to convey scale and capture the atmosphere of the project. Note the markings "601 to 620" as well as a large "6," which may correspond to the numbering of rooms or spaces and to a sixth floor. Pencil drawing colored with watercolor and likely gouache, probably created as part of an architectural or interior design project, possibly for a hotel or a building open to the public. Mixed media on tracing paper. Date:
