Description

Born in Avignon in 1887, he initially worked in a drugstore. While selling canvases and paints to artists in Avignon, he would meet up with them on Sundays to paint alongside them. As his talent became widely recognized, he joined the "Groupe des Treize," founded in 1912 by Clément Brun, of which he was the youngest member. He became friends with Joseph Meissonnier and participated with the group in their first exhibition on December 21, 1912, which was a resounding success, followed by a second exhibition on December 18, 1913--which was also the group's last. He died in Martigues in 1956. Seaside, probably in Martigues.
