Description

A charming oil on canvas depicting a lively countryside scene featuring a shepherd watching over his flock, seated in the shade of tall trees by the edge of a body of water. The composition offers a beautiful view of a peaceful countryside. In the foreground, the grass and vegetation are rendered with a free and spontaneous touch, while a path or body of water naturally guides the eye toward the shepherd and his flock silhouetted in the distance. The color palette, consisting of greens, ochres, and earthy tones, along with the luminosity of the sky, lends the entire scene a particularly gentle and bucolic atmosphere. The work is signed in the lower right corner; the signature is difficult to decipher but may read "Mivaert," subject to confirmation. A work of fine quality that we date to the late 19th or very early
