Description

Vintage 1970s coffee table in the Hollywood Regency style, made of clear Plexiglas (Lucite) and brass. This iconic model is generally attributed to the famous American designer Charles Hollis Jones or draws inspiration from the work of leading design houses of the era, such as Maison Jansen. Features of this piece: Floating design: Its geometric structure combines thick acrylic legs connected by gold-colored metal (brass) corner pieces. Double shelf: The frame is designed to accommodate two levels (an upper shelf and a lower shelf), creating an effect of transparency and visual lightness. Materials: Acrylic glass (often called Plexiglas, Lucite, or Altuglas) and gold-plated metal finishes. Very good condition: Glass shelves, metal uprights, and brass.
