Description

Carved wooden chest with twisted columns - Renaissance style. Important carved wooden chest, of fine decorative quality, crafted in the Renaissance style. The front, which is particularly intricately carved, is punctuated by two twisted columns framing two large panels carved with radiant rosettes and geometric motifs. The central section is adorned with a figure in the round set within a niche, resting on an architectural motif carved with volutes and foliage. The piece rests on a molded base topped by sturdy flattened circular feet. The top panel, mounted on hinges, lifts to reveal ample storage space. The wood's beautiful brown hue and patina particularly highlight the depth of the carvings. A highly decorative chest, ideal for a period interior, a library, or as an accent piece.
