Description

Period Restored Tiered Desk in Light Mahogany - 19th Century Very elegant small period stepped desk, restored, dating from the first half of the 19th century, crafted from light mahogany and mahogany veneer, accented with fine dark wood fillets. This piece features exquisite cabinetmaking and particularly harmonious proportions. The front opens with a large waist drawer, framed by contrasting fillets and fitted with two bronze pull rings as well as a lock and key. The top opens to reveal a pleasant work surface lined with antique green felt. When closed, it reveals a beautiful light mahogany veneer with warm grain patterns. The upper section features a stepped shelf, supported on the sides by two curved posts. This design gives the desk a light and particularly elegant silhouette. The base is remarkable: two
