Description

18-karat two-tone gold marquise ring with emeralds and diamonds
Secondhand French jewelry
This marquise ring elegantly combines yellow gold and 18K white gold. Its elongated design flatters the hand, while the scroll-patterned shank reveals the full refinement of this authenticated pre-owned piece. A bit of history????
The marquise cut owes its name to a court legend: Louis XV is said to have asked his jeweler to create a gemstone resembling the smile of the Marquise de Pompadour. Its elongated silhouette, tapered at both ends, has since been associated with elegance and sophistication--a subtle nod to the history of French jewelry that is reflected here in the design of the setting.

Why choose this ring? A rare combination: two-tone gold and emeralds make for an uncommon pairing in pre-owned jewelry.
Authenticated French craftsmanship: hallmarks and maker's marks, a guarantee of quality and traceability.
A responsible choice: choosing a pre-owned ring is part of a circular and sustainable approach to jewelry.
How to wear it? On its own, as a statement piece: let the marquise ring take center stage on a bare hand.
Layered delicately: pair it with subtle bands on the other hand for an elegant look.
For everyday wear or a night out: its elongated, refined design suits any occasion.
Valors diamonds' tip???? Remove your ring before doing housework or applying cosmetics, then simply clean it with a soft, slightly damp cloth. It'll shine just as brightly as ever.
