Description

A beautiful bracelet in 925 silver with an 18-karat gold clasp tab. Circa Art Deco, 1920. The band features a repeating pattern of articulated, rhomboid-shaped links, adorned with white stones set very closely together to cover as much of the surface as possible and create a sparkling carpet. Beautiful work by a master silversmith (see photos). Leaf-like motifs appear on the edges of the bracelet, reminiscent of 19th-century jewelry. It bears two boar's head hallmarks facing left, located at the clasp (the boar's head hallmark was used from 1838 through 1962 on solid silver pieces in Paris for France). The master silversmith's maker's mark is in a diamond-shaped field on the edge of the clasp tongue, and the fineness mark is in an oval. The clasp has been tested with a touchstone and is
