Description

A solid oak tabernacle dating from the late 19th century, in the Gothic style--more specifically, the Neo-Gothic style. It features interesting architectural detailing reminiscent of a Gothic church. This tabernacle has a clear provenance; it was purchased by the previous owners at an auction in 2010. In beautiful original condition; note that the gilded bronze hinges have some play and are set back a few centimeters from the door, though this does not prevent the door from opening properly. Key missing. Shipping arrangements to be determined by the carrier; free monthly delivery is available in Le Mans.
