Description

"Iznik" ceramic vase by Charles Catteau for Boch Keramis
Glazed ceramic, polychrome floral decoration
The famous "Iznik" motif "D69", a vibrant, stylized, multicolored floral design, heavily inspired by historic Islamic pottery and the Ottoman tradition of Iznik. Created on a cream-colored, crackled glazed slip background, it features form No. 1291, with a harmoniously proportioned, rounded body tapering into a short cobalt-blue neck and a ring-shaped base
Charles Catteau (1880-1966) was a Franco-Belgian Art Deco industrial designer and master ceramist whose influence was exceptional
He gained international renown primarily during his tenure as artistic director at the renowned Belgian ceramics manufacturer Boch Frères Keramis in La Louvière, where he worked from 1920 until
