Description

The Bargueno or Vargueno. A traditional Spanish writing desk typically dating from the 17th century. In terms of structure, it consists of a solid walnut chest with a front flap that opens to form a desk. The interior, featuring 12 drawers and two doors--one of which conceals a secret compartment--is adorned with wood carvings, geometric bone inlays, and iron hardware, including wrought-iron handles. This cabinet rests on a table with lyre-shaped legs and a one-piece solid walnut top. The legs feature sculpted profiles in the Baroque style. In good overall condition, with some later restoration due to its age. Cabinet dimensions: W 89 cm - H 53 cm - D 49 cm
