Description

Rectangular frame in gilded metal, decorated with an embossed frieze featuring a repeating pattern of fleurs-de-lis set within arched motifs and accompanied by foliage. It is surmounted by an openwork pediment composed of two winged sphinxes facing each other, arranged on either side of a central palmette, against a background of foliage. The design combines the neoclassical vocabulary inherited from the Empire period with the fleur-de-lis, which was brought back into fashion during the Restoration. The back and its easel were later reworked to allow the frame to be displayed as a freestanding piece. In good condition. Overall dimensions: H. 16.5 × W. 11.8 cm Visible area: H. 10 × W. 8.4 cm
