Description

A stunning cream-lacquered wrought-iron centerpiece featuring 10 candle holders. The 10 candle holders are arranged on four vertical levels, culminating in a single, prominent central candle holder. This tiered arrangement creates an elegant, tree-like silhouette when the candelabra is lit. The volutes and spirals supporting the candle trays lend this solid wrought iron piece a soft, fluid lightness, typical of the garden and patio aesthetics of the 1950s and 1960s. This piece combines an architectural structure with a delicate, romantic aesthetic. Unique patina resulting from candle wax, soot, and rust. 46 cm wide and deep, 157 cm high. Mid-century "shabby chic" design.
