Description

Gilded Bronze Putto This gilded bronze angel with a patina stands in contrapposto (a welcoming pose). The figure's weight rests primarily on one leg, while the upper body is slightly turned, highlighting a classical posture typical of ancient craftsmanship. His arms are raised, hands open, in an outward gesture that evokes a welcoming attitude, a blessing, or an oratorical pose. It rests on a black Plexiglas base. The base measures 2 cm high, 4.5 cm wide, and 4.5 cm deep. Total height: 11 cm. This type of decorative sculpture is often inspired by classical Roman and Italian Renaissance models. 19th-century French craftsmanship.
