Description

A beautiful and rare hunting dagger from the early 19th century--it may even date back further, given the craftsmanship and quality of its details! A weapon designed for deer, wild boar, and wolves. In very good condition. In its original antique patina! Uncleaned. In its natural state. Provenance: a château in the Bordeaux region. Private collection. Dimensions: 57 cm total length, 43 cm blade length, and 12 cm width at the guard. Magnificent decoration. Quite heavy. Balances very well in the hand. A rare model of great visual beauty! Once used in hunting expeditions in the forest!
