Description

An antique oil-on-canvas painting depicting the Crucifixion of Christ with the Virgin Mary and Saint Joseph, dating from the early 18th century. This exquisitely crafted painting is part of the religious art produced between the late 17th and early 18th centuries and depicts the dramatic scene of the Crucifixion on Calvary. The composition follows a rigorous pyramidal structure strongly influenced by the classical tradition. At the center stands the monumental figure of Jesus Christ on the cross, characterized by precise anatomical rendering and a sinuous, dynamic white loincloth. On either side of the Cross, the Virgin Mary shares in the sorrow, wrapped in a deep blue cloak that opens over an antique pink gown, her face turned upward in an expression of grief. On the right, Saint Joseph is
