Description

A superb and rare pair of cassolettes (or incense burners) from the Empire period, circa 1810, in black-patinated bronze and gold-gilded bronze (original gilding in excellent condition). Each cassolette features a baluster-shaped body with twisted ribs in dark-patinated bronze, elegantly adorned with a finely chased gilded bronze trim. The upper section is topped by an openwork lid surmounted by a floral bouquet, resting on a leaf-decorated collar. The curve of the body is embellished with applied floral garlands, while the twisted base flares out into palmette and foliage motifs. The piece rests on a molded, leaf-decorated base with feet cut into volutes in the Rocaille/Empire style. Period: Empire (circa 1810) Materials: Patinated bronze and gilded bronze (original mercury gilding) Condition:
