Description

This impressive set, consisting of a crystal bowl and two vases mounted in gilded bronze, is attributed to the Cristallerie de Clichy (1842-1895). The crystal is supported by a sumptuous gilded bronze setting; the quality and delicacy of the engraving highlight the opulence of this composition, offering a true glimpse into the production of the French luxury industry in the second half of the 19th century. Founded in 1844, the Cristallerie de Clichy-la-Garenne established itself from the beginning of the Second Empire as one of France's leading crystal manufacturers ! Unfortunately, the company did not sign its creations; they were identified only by a label that has often since disappeared. Its numerous participations in the World's Fairs that punctuated the second half of the 19th century
