Description

Pair of Regence Period Gilt Bronze Wall Sconces with Putti Decor - In the Manner of Charles-André Boulle

Description:

This pair of gilt bronze wall sconces, dating from the Regency period, draws inspiration from the designs of André-Charles Boulle while. Adorned with finely crafted putti faces, these pieces combine artistic refinement with technical mastery, typical of early 18th-century French craftsmanship.

Their asymmetrical decor, featuring acanthus leaves and scroll motifs, reflects Boulle's influence, while their two-arm light structure adds both functionality and aesthetic appeal.
