Description

A charming scene of childish roughhousing. Two young boys locked in an energetic wrestling match create a lively and endearing scene, a pleasure to watch from every angle. The expressive faces of these rascals, carefully sculpted, lend a great deal of character to the whole piece. Details of their clothing-- cap, suspenders, and apron--are skillfully rendered by sculptor and accurately evoke the early 20th century. Children's little faces enhance charm and spontaneity of this little duo. A lovely French bronze, crafted in the Parisian workshops, solid cast and chiseled, unsigned, resting on three feet. It has a striking presence despite its modest dimensions and is surprisingly heavy for its size: approximately 600 g. Dimensions: 11 × 9 × 6 cm. A whole wave of interest in childhood emerged
