Description

Large-format oil on canvas, 75/57, by a 19th-century Austrian artist who was primarily active from around 1850 to 1870. He is particularly renowned for his late-Romantic Alpine landscapes, which accurately depict the mountains, fir forests, and rivers of the Alpine region (such as the area around Berchtesgaden or Lake Almsee). [1, 2, 3, 4] The work shown in the image, dated 1873, is typical of his mountain compositions. In the foreground is a young girl, surrounded by massive boulders, tree stumps, and realistic alpine vegetation. In the background are mountain peaks beneath a cloudy yet luminous sky. Its magnificent period gilded wood frame, richly molded and carved with classical motifs. Shipping available. For more information, call 06 09 03 18 46 or email
