Description

Unique and Rare Design This Daum Nancy vase, dating from the 20th century, is part of the Art Nouveau movement. Crafted from multilayered glass, it features a color gradient ranging from blue to a frosted, translucent finish. The design depicts an exotic landscape with palm trees. Created using an acid-etching technique, which gives it a distinctive texture. The intricate details are highlighted by gold accents. Two chips at the top, visible in the photo. Height: 18 cm
