Description

This elegant pair of unlined linen curtains elegantly captures the decorative splendor of antique Baroque-inspired fabrics. With a beautiful, generous drape (height: 295 cm), these panels display a sumptuous design of plant scrolls in shades of deep and luminous greens, standing out gracefully against an ivory background. The design, both fluid and structured, evokes classic, grand upholstery fabrics, with a noble and timeless spirit. Dimensions: 295 cm plus an 11 cm hem x 125 cm. The design consists of:-- Foliage scrolls, arabesques, and elegant volutes-- A symmetrical composition-- Directly inspired by Baroque designs. Natural ecru / ivory background. A nuanced olive green pattern, subtly accented with faint golden tones. In the 1970s, there was a genuine resurgence of interest in historical styles in interior design: a return to classical motifs, the use of modern industrial techniques, and the widespread adoption of textiles inspired by the great traditional manufacturers. These curtains are fully in line with this trend, offering a beautiful blend of decorative tradition and high-quality modern production. Linen, a vibrant and elegant material, gives the curtains a natural drape and a warm presence. Displayed as drapes, these curtains reveal an elegant, structured fullness, a supple yet dense drape, and a natural highlighting of the pattern through the interplay of folds. An inscription on the selvedge of the reverse side -- "Château Saint Ange grand teint meubles" -- attests to craftsmanship designed for high-quality furnishings and highlights the use of "grand teint" dyeing, renowned for its colorfastness and longevity. Ideal for:-- Large picture windows-- Rooms with high ceilings-- Theatrical decor or interiors with character Ideal for:-- Classic or neoclassical living room-- Chic country home-- A reimagined 1970s vintage style A decorative pair with a reimagined classic charm, ideal for enhancing an elegant interior that blends tradition and modernity ref 160426
