Description

Remarkable and rare Louis XIV period table coffee grinder, made of carved walnut and dated from the beginning of the 18th century. The body has a beautiful eight-sided shape with a pronounced curve, characteristic of the great craftsmanship of the end of the reign of Louis XIV. The upper hopper, entirely in patinated iron, has a hinged lid and an elegant half-olive clasp, with a central opening for the introduction of grains. It bears the precious signature of the manufacturer TIVELIER, a guarantee of authenticity and quality. The wrought iron crank, with its beautiful worked curve, ends in a turned wooden handle with a double bulge and a ball at the top. The lower light wood collection drawer is decorated with a wrought iron rosette-shaped pull handle, providing an additional decorative touch.
