Description

Antique cast-iron Christ on the Cross (Corpus Christi) - 19th century. Period: 19th century (the heyday of major foundries producing religious art, such as those in Tusey, Val d'Osne, and Dommartin). Material: Solid, raw, and heavy cast iron. 51 Condition: Authentic piece "in its original condition." Features an old, textured patina with superficial traces of oxidation (rust), confirming its authenticity and historical outdoor use (likely originating from an old wayside calvary, cemetery, or mission site). Style: Beautiful facial expression, draped in the classic perizonium, and detailed anatomy of the ribcage. The arms are raised in a V-shape, a dynamic posture characteristic of devotional art from this period. 7 kg
