Description

An elegant late 19th-century folding side table, crafted with a solid walnut base and a top veneered in fine walnut burl. The contoured top features a refined grain pattern, typical of the artisanal craftsmanship of the era, which highlights the warm tones of the wood. The slender, sinuous legs lend lightness and harmony to the structure, while the "folding" mechanism allows the tabletop surface to double in size, making it practical and versatile: perfect as a coffee table, a room-center table, or an elegant occasional side table. A piece of furniture with timeless charm, ideal for classic or eclectic settings, or for creating a sophisticated contrast in contemporary spaces.
