Description

Pair of large 19th-century bronze candelabra with a brown patina, signed by the famous foundryman Ferdinand Barbedienne (signature stamped on the base). Neo-Antique / Neo-Pompeian inspiration. Each candelabrum features four light arms adorned with foliage and vegetal volutes, topped by a figurine of a stork (or heron) with outstretched wings. Fluted shaft with suspension chains, resting on a finely chiseled tripod with goat's-foot feet and openwork palmette motifs. Signature: "F. BARBEDIENNE" hallmark engraved in intaglio on one of the legs. Excellent condition; note the chain at the back
