Description

A rectangular height-adjustable table with rounded edges, designed by Charlotte Perriand for the Les Arcs resort in the 1970s. It features a rectangular tabletop made of laminated pine with a beautiful patina, resting on a black-lacquered metal base that can be raised or lowered using a jack mechanism. Height adjustable from 53 to 75 cm. Created for the interior design of the Les Belles Challes housing complex in Les Arcs "1800."
