Description

Wall mirror with a structured design in polychrome laminated wood, characteristic of decorative pieces from the 1980s. The design combines simple geometric shapes with a pastel color palette dominated by shades of blue and cream. The upper band, designed as a stylized semicircular shape, asserts a confident postmodern aesthetic. The side panels incorporate lighting with exposed bulbs, evoking dressing room mirrors. The piece provides direct frontal lighting while making the mirror a striking decorative element, designed to structure the space as much as to serve a functional purpose. France, circa 1980
