Description

A pair of stools from Courchevel, made in France around 1960. Crafted from solid pine, they feature a square seat with generously rounded corners, fitted with an oblong handle to make them easy to move. The four tapered legs are connected by solid crossbars, forming a sturdy structure designed for daily use in a mountain resort. Their deliberately understated design and significant patina reflect the functional aesthetic of 1960s Alpine furniture. Provenance: Courchevel, French Alps.
