Description

A captivating 18th-century oil painting on canvas depicting the profound and intense mystical vision of Saint Francis of Paola. The hermit saint is depicted kneeling, with his hands clasped in heartfelt prayer and his ecstatic gaze turned toward the sky, from which a divine light radiates, filled with cherubs and angelic faces. Behind the saint, a reclining lamb can be seen--a traditional iconographic attribute symbolizing meekness, purity, and sacrifice. The composition stands out for its warm color palette and skillful use of chiaroscuro, elements typical of devotional and Baroque painting of the period. Gilded wooden frame. Neapolitan school. Condition as shown in the photos. I'm also on Instagram "mercantedarteroma"
