Description

Chinese Ruyi Scepter Made of Wood and Carved Green Jade
Decorative Chinese ruyi scepter made of wood, adorned with three plaques of carved green jade, China, 20th century. The ruyi is a traditional Chinese symbolic object, associated with wishes for happiness, prosperity, and fulfillment. This piece features the classic curved shape of the ruyi scepter, with three inlaid green jade plaques: a large upper plaque shaped like a ruyi head, a central oval plaque, and a smaller terminal plaque. The jade plaques are carved in relief with auspicious motifs, including floral forms, symbolic emblems, and a design evoking the endless knot. The deep green of the jade contrasts elegantly with the reddish-brown wooden mount, giving the piece a beautiful decorative presence. A beautiful collector's piece,
