Bernard Lignon, The Jockeys ,horse racing scene. Oil on canvas.Dimensions: 60.5 cm x 73 cm. Very good condition. Label on the back from the Galerie Paul Pétridès in Paris (a gallery active from 1947 to 1975). Bernard Lignon (1928-2017) was a French Expressionist painter. He is known for his views of Paris and Provence, floral bouquets, clowns, and occasional horse-racing scenes. He achieved international renown through exhibitions in Europe, Japan, and the United States. He moved in the same circles as César, Yves Montand, and Lino Ventura. His paintings were acquired by notable figures such as the Aga Khan, Ava Gardner, and the King of Morocco. The Galerie Paul Pétridès, located at 53 Rue La Boétie, opened in 1947. Having become an expert on Utrillo, the gallerist commanded significant
