Description

This mid-18th-century Lombardy-Veneto Barocchetto chest of drawers, crafted from walnut and walnut burl, is an example of period craftsmanship that has been modified over time. Originally taller, it was later adapted to a two-drawer configuration while retaining the elegant structure characteristic of the period. The hardware has been replaced, giving it a more contemporary look without losing its historical charm. The walnut veneer enhances the contrast with the burl, a hallmark of the Barocchetto style. The interior is made of fir. Ideal for spaces that celebrate the blend of history and practicality. Product condition: Due to its age and wear, this product requires restoration and refinishing.
