Description

A lacquered walnut pharmacy counter dating from the late 19th century, made in Italy. The front features an elegant three-part division with panels, while the uprights are embellished with refined scroll carvings. The jar-shaped legs provide stability and add a distinctive touch to the piece. The back of the counter is functional, with open compartments made of poplar and fir wood that offer practicality and easy access. This piece combines aesthetics and functionality, representing a significant example of period furniture. Product condition: Due to its age and wear, this product requires restoration and repolishing. We strive to present the actual condition of the piece as fully as possible through the photos.
