Description

An oil painting depicting the garden of the house in the background, beautifully highlighted by a carved wooden frame. Dimensions of the painting: 35 x 26A contemporary and friend of Pierre Bonnard, Édouard Vuillard, and Maurice Denis, d'Espagnat shared their interest in domestic life and decorative surfaces. However, unlike his peers in the Nabis group, he retained great stylistic freedom. His canvases often shimmer with a soft veil inherited from the Impressionist atmosphere, while incorporating the structure and tonal harmony of the Post-Impressionists. His portraits--particularly those of women and children--are acclaimed for their psychological intimacy and understated grace, revealing a deep empathy and a subtle art of visual storytelling.
