

Louis XIII Armchair, Made Of Walnut, 17th Century

500 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Solid wood

Description

Louis XIII armchair in walnut with sheep's bone base - 17th century A beautiful Louis XIII armchair in walnut, dating from the 17th century, featuring a design particularly characteristic of chairs from this period. It rests on an elegant sheep's bone base, composed of highly sculpted legs joined by an H-shaped crossbar featuring curves and counter-curves. This design lends great character and elegance to the lower portion of the armchair. The walnut armrests, also highly sculpted, end in rounded tips and rest on sinuous supports. The tall, rectangular backrest, slightly sloped, maintains beautiful proportions and gives the chair a commanding presence. The seat and backrest are upholstered in antique fabric featuring a design of large foliage and floral motifs in shades of beige, ochre, and dusty pink.

Dealer

Galerie Christophe Elisabeth

Galerie Christophe Elisabeth

Mobile : 06 99 48 80 76

1 domaine de Montrabech

Lézignan-Corbières 11200

The upholstery is accented with a braid and a row of decorative tacks. The piece exhibits a patina and signs of wear consistent with its age. The walnut has a beautiful, warm patina that particularly highlights the curves of the base and armrests. A beautiful Louis XIII armchair, both decorative and authentic, characteristic of 17th-century French furniture. Period: 17th century Style: Louis XIII Material: walnut Base: sheep's bone, H-shaped brace Upholstery: tapestry with floral and foliage motifs Dimensions: Height: 107 cm Width: 62 cm Depth: 52 cm Seat height: 48 cm