Description

A rare set of four "Sphinx" cantilever chairs in the style of Boris Tabacoff (circa 1970) for Mobilier Modulaire Moderne (MMM) or Mobilier de Paris. Enhance your interior with this exceptional set of four "Space Age" cantilever chairs, designed in the inimitable style of Boris Tabacoff for Mobilier de Paris. These pieces perfectly embody the avant-garde of 1970s French design, combining a sculptural chrome frame with a seat featuring fluid, organic lines. Iconic silhouette: The boldly curved chrome "C" or "Z" frame creates a striking cantilever effect, giving the impression that the seat is floating in space. "Space Age" aesthetic: The enveloping seats feature Tabacoff's signature openwork backrest, offering a light and airy silhouette from every angle. Luxurious texture:

Upholstered in sumptuous, shimmering taupe velvet that harmonizes perfectly with the mirror-polished chrome. Designer/Style: Boris Tabacoff / Mobilier de Paris (Attribution) Period: 1970s Materials: Polished steel/chrome and velvet upholstery Condition: Excellent vintage condition. The chrome retains all its luster and reflectivity, showing only a slight patina consistent with its age. The velvet is very well preserved, with no major wear, tears, or stains. Structurally sound and incredibly comfortable. Note for Collectors Four-piece sets in this condition are becoming increasingly rare. This cantilever model with a "Z" or "C" frame is a must-have for collectors who appreciate Pierre Cardin, Maria Pergay, and mid-20th-century French modernism. They make for spectacular dining chairs or high-end accent seating for a thoughtfully designed living room.
