Description

A fine Napoleon III period salon suite comprising four armchairs and four chairs, forming a complete and harmonious set of eight seats in blackened wood.

The seats display the elegant, flowing lines characteristic of the Second Empire period, with rounded backs, curved legs and gracefully shaped armrests on the armchairs.

The suite is upholstered in an antique polychrome tapestry, decorated with floral bouquets and birds. The light-toned upholstery contrasts beautifully with the blackened wood frames and gives the set a highly decorative appearance.

The four armchairs and four chairs retain a strong decorative unity, making this complete suite particularly attractive for a period interior.

The set is in good overall antique condition, with
