Description

A beautiful 19th-century gouache by a student of Louis BELANGER (1736/56-1816) depicting a landscape with a small boat in the foreground, bustling with fishermen going about their business, and a background featuring a bridge and a mill hidden among the vegetation. The perspective is particularly well executed. This gouache is very luminous and highly decorative. The originality of this beautiful gouache also lies in its frame with rounded corners. The frame is a good size, measuring 38 x 46 cm.
