Description

This charming Louis XVI-style bouillotte table embodies neoclassical elegance in all its finesse. Crafted from mahogany and beech, it features a round top adorned with a checkerboard inlay, whose geometric pattern reflects the 18th-century taste for harmony, symmetry, and artisanal precision. The circumference of the tabletop is enhanced by a finely openwork gilt-bronze molding. The four turned legs, elegantly fluted, evoke the aesthetic codes of this period: refined simplicity, balanced verticality, and purity of form. Compact and luminous, this side table fits perfectly into a classic or contemporary interior. Its meticulous marquetry makes it a decorative piece with character.*****Period: Mid-20th centuryIn good condition following restoration in our cabinetmaking workshopWaxed
