Description

This English mahogany secretary desk stands out for its slanted flap, adorned with an oval marquetry medallion depicting a seashell, and for the friezes that accentuate its contours. When the flap opens, it reveals a carefully compartmentalized interior, consisting of small compartments and miniature drawers designed to organize correspondence, documents, and accessories, offering an intimate and functional workspace ideal for writing. Beneath the writing surface, three spacious drawers ensure exceptional sturdiness, while their drop-down handles add a touch of understated, quintessentially English elegance. The locks are functional and come with their keys. The piece rests on notched legs, giving the desk a stable and harmonious appearance. With its clean lines,
