Description

Oil on canvas. Signed and dated lower right. The landscape depicts a stream flowing through a shady coniferous forest; two young boys are trying their hand at fishing with rustic gear. The atmosphere is suffused with light filtering through the dense, green trees. Tristan Lacroix distinguished himself through a naturalistic style of painting characterized by rural realism, which focused on simple life and the everyday landscapes of the common people. The painting is presented in a contemporary gilded frame. ARAROT0292257
