Description

A charming and elegant set of twelve Art Deco-era animal-themed knife blocks, presented in its original compartmentalized case lined with yellow satin. Each knife holder depicts a different animal, rendered in a geometric and stylized manner characteristic of the 1920s and 1930s. The series includes, among others, a cicada, a seal or sea lion, a fish, a crustacean, several birds, a monkey, an elephant, a rhinoceros, and felines. The highly stylized design of these animals reflects the aesthetic of Édouard-Marcel Sandoz's animal-themed creations, whose designs enjoyed great success during the Art Deco period. A virtually identical set is also known to have been marketed by Le Comptoir Général, featuring a comparable composition of twelve animals. The knife holders are made of
