Description

An elegant pair of nesting candy boxes in silver-plated metal, created for Christian Dior around 1970. Circular and cylindrical in shape, these two lidded boxes feature a simple and refined design, accentuated on the lid by a delicate beaded frieze. Each candy box bears the engraved signature "Christian Dior." The interior, left in its original metal finish, reflects their design and allows for both decorative and functional use: candy boxes, pill boxes, or small tabletop cases. A particularly elegant set, representative of the 1970s taste for contemporary silverware with clean lines. Very good condition. Beautiful luster, no tarnish. A few micro-scratches and slight signs of wear on the inside, consistent with the pieces' age.
