Description

Bernard Piga - The Painter and His Model in the Studio - Oil on canvas, signed 1992 Oil on canvas by Bernard Piga depicting the painter in his studio with his model. The young nude woman, seated in the foreground, occupies the center of the composition, while the artist appears in the background in the half-light, observing his model. The scene evokes the quiet work of the studio and the relationship between the painter and his subject. A pendant light casts a warm beam above the figures. The palette of blue, gray, turquoise, and pale pink creates an intimate atmosphere. The loose, energetic brushwork, fragmented contours, and textural elements place the work somewhere between figuration and abstraction. Bernard Piga, whose real name was Bernard-Georges Pigassou (1934-2008), was a
