Description

A rare pair of Globe Wernicke London bookcases in oak from the late 19th century to early 20th century--England Very beautiful bookcases in light oak, known as "golden oak" It is possible to separate them into two individual bookcases. This could be an interesting addition to a decoration The bookcases are made of oak and consist of a molded base and cornice, as well as five glassed sections The glass panels slide inside the cabinet and feature brass handles The bookcases have large compartments, making them suitable for holding large books. They can be used as bookcases or display cabinets in perfect condition with a beautiful patina The bookcases match perfectly into both traditional and contemporary interiors Delivery available in Belgium, France, and internationally.
