Description

A contemporary ring in 750/° yellow gold (18 KT, eagle-head hallmark), whose design and generous proportions evoke the aesthetic of Tank jewelry. It features the substantial presence of a signet ring, built around a wide, heart-shaped setting with solid, rounded lines. Its design is enlivened by two slightly slanted sides that catch and reflect light, creating a subtle interplay of depth. This bowl-shaped construction, characteristic of the Tank style, forms a wide surface of polished gold with a mirror-like effect around the stone. Set at the center is a heart-shaped plum-pink tourmaline in a closed setting. Its deep, nuanced color subtly shifts with the light, ranging from wine-red and dark raspberry tones to brighter flashes. The faceted brilliance of the tourmaline contrasts elegantly with the surrounding polished yellow gold surfaces, which highlight the intensity of its color. Despite its architectural character, the ring retains a great deal of softness thanks to its rounded forms and flowing lines. Its generous setting and signet-ring style give it a striking presence on the hand, making it particularly alluring when worn on the little finger. A contemporary ring with character--both graphic and sensual--that combines the boldness of volumes inspired by the Tank aesthetic with the softness of the heart motif and the depth of a tourmaline with subtle hues. Total gross weight: 10.17 g Ring size: 47½--resizing available upon request by our workshop (current diameter 1.52 cm / US size between 4.5 and 4 3/4) Condition: imperceptible micro-scratches; characteristic natural inclusions in the tourmaline that are not visible when worn.
