Description

Painting, oil on canvas, "Portrait of a Young Woman in a Pensive Pose" - Late 19th Century A charming oil painting on canvas dating from the late 19th century, depicting a refined half-length portrait of a woman. The figure is portrayed in a pose of classic 19th-century elegance: her face, with its soft and expressive features, rests gently on her left hand in an intimate, dreamy, and reflective pose. The artistic quality is evident in the rendering of color and light. The skin tones and the rich details of the jewelry--the multi-strand pearl necklace and the golden pendants--are highlighted by a soft light that cuts through the scene, skillfully emerging from the dark, neutral, academically inspired background. The low-cut gown in shades of bright pink and crimson, embellished with a red flower and accents in her gathered hair, evokes the romantic taste and elegance of the bourgeoisie or aristocracy of the period. The work is presented in a recently crafted wooden frame with gilded stucco.* Period: Late 19th century * Medium: Oil on canvas* Dimensions: 72.5 x 61.8 cm - canvas 57 x 46.5 cm* Condition: Good overall condition consistent with the period; it has a small tear on the décolleté (see detailed photo) with a corresponding patch on the reverse (see detailed photo). The canvas and the painted surface are stable, with a natural patina that lends the work its charm. ?Notes for CollectorsA work of great visual impact and decorative appeal, perfect for enhancing living rooms, studies, or collections of 19th-century paintings. Portraits of this quality and with this level of psychological insight represent a sound investment in the antiques market.
