Description

A set of two hammered pewter pitchers by a master silversmith of the Art Deco period (1920-1930). Today he is renowned for his creations--in the broadest sense of the term--as well as for his jewelry made of precious metals, silver, silver-plated metal, or pewter. Jean Despres hammered the pewter and signed certain pieces with a stylus; the two pitchers presented here are an elegant and rare example of this. Two sizes: 19 cm and 15 cm; the larger of the two is more intricately crafted, while the smaller one is just as elegant as the larger one. The hammered texture of the pewter is clearly visible next to the signature on the base of both pitchers
